

The Challenge – Module 2 – Day 7

2010TCMD2D7a: Intro

Running Time: 1 min

Intro

[ED] Ed Dale, the Challenge

[MR] Marty Rozmanith, Wordpress Direct

[ED] Hey, welcome back! It's day seven! And today is the time to let the world know -- the world, everybody in the whole world about your site. You do something like this, [shouts] "Hey, La Jolla shores! It's time to check out my website," something like that, except a lot less embarrassing. [To Marty] This room is in your name, isn't it?

[MR] It is.

[ED] Okay! Cool! So, we're going to get your site indexed. And we're going to show you how to do that. It's far less painful than it sounds. So, head off and do that. And of course, you've got another seven days to catch up. So, go check it out and we'll see you in the next module in seven days time.

Actions

- Sign up for your free Ping Kaching account
- Create a new project and add your blog URL to it
- Follow the process outlined and submit your blog for indexing.

Handy Tip - The submission process can involve confirmation emails. If you want to avoid receiving these emails to your main email account, a simple alternative is to create yourself a free Gmail account and use that for your submissions instead.

Resources:

Ping Kaching - <http://www.challenge.co/PingKaching>

Click here to sign up for your free Ping Kaching account.

Contact Ping Kaching - support@pingkaching.com

Use this address to contact Ping Kaching directly with any support issues.

Ping Kaching Support - <http://www.pingkaching.com/>

Click here to visit Ping Kaching support.

Gmail - <http://mail.google.com/>

Click here to get a Gmail email address.